Good morning.

We have never spoken on this file and I wished to introduce myself.

Please note we are not Max Re. It does make a difference.

In that the Debris coverage may fall to us for settlement, please keep us informed of developments as primary insurer on this matter.

Please let me know if there is anything we can help you with.

I was not indicating that the request was in that letter but they have asked the insured for it. The insured is now asking us for a letter that the carriers agree it is a CTL, how do we reply to that??

Ken,

You wrote "See the attached letter to the insured from the P&I atty. They are also demanding Signal provide a letter from their Property Carrier stating that the dry dock is a constructive total loss. Should we do this, would it have any affect on the debris removal question??" I don't see in this letter where the lawyers for the P&I Insurer are demanding anything of our insurers (Ace and Max Re) or that they want a letter stating the dry dock is a total constructive loss. Rather they are asking Signal to provide a Comprehensive Claim Statement (see below quote from the Preis & Roy letter). Please send me a complete copy of the P&I policy. Our insurers owe no duty to the P&I insurers or their lawyers. I would not provide them anything.

In furtherance of our investigation of this matter on behalf of Fireman's Fund/One Beacon (Underwriters), and to respond to the demand made within Ms. Spears' correspondence of 13 October 2009 in which Signal International, LLC directs Willis to ascertain coverage for the constructive total loss of the AFD3-5 drydock without reservations or conditions, we would request that Signal provide a comprehensive Claim Statement outlining in detail and with supporting documentation the amount of each of its claims, including a breakdown of under which policy Signal believes those claims fall. This comprehensive Claim Statement should also include any and all communications from any and all insurers already received in response to Ms. Spears' 13 October 2009 correspondence. Specifically, we are interested in any and all correspondence and/or claim determinations Signal has received from its Property and/or Pollution Underwriters. Fireman's Fund/One Beacon are continuing their investigation of this claim and the demands made upon them by their insured. The above requested information is vital to that investigation and determination of the claim.

Cheers,

See the attached letter to the insured from the P&I atty. They are also demanding Signal provide a letter from their Property Carrier stating that the dry dock is a constructive total loss. Should we do this, would it have any affect on the debris removal question??
